Open House Sunday! Don't forget to bring your dish for the pot luck this Sunday. There were only a few names signed up on the clipboard that we sent around on the last couple of Sundays. Cheryl Gretzinger and her Kohls' colleagues will be providing the desserts that day and this will also bring a donation from Kohls. The pot luck will follow the late service and the students will be in class until 3:00pm. Just a reminder that there will be no school on Monday, January 30, 2012.

A Little Latin...A Little History.

Highlights of the reign of each king.

Rome was void of many women due to Romulus' core followers were outcasts and bandits. In order to ensure future generations, the Romans needed wives. Therefore, Romulus invited the Sabines for a religious celebration. This celebration was a hoax. The Romans captured the Sabine womenfolk and stole them off to Rome. This act eventually led to war between each civilization. The Sabine Women by Jacques-Louis David is a famous painting depicting the Sabine women stopping the war between their Sabine fathers and Roman husbands.
